

Hickory Log Creek Reservoir | Canton, Georgia 30114
Annual Parking Permit Application

The Hickory Log Creek Reservoir is a drought contingency reservoir owned and operated by the City of Canton and the Cobb County-Marietta Water Authority. The sole purpose of the reservoir is to maintain a backup water supply for the customers of the City and Authority during drought conditions that result from low flows in the Etowah River and ultimately lake levels in Lake Altoona. During these times of low flow, water will be released from the reservoir to supplement flow in the Etowah River. As a result, reservoir levels are subject to fluctuation and water levels may drop below the boat ramp level.
